

The Real World Exists

Get the experience you need from SAE International

The last thing you want to hear when searching for your first job is: “You need more real-world experience.” It’s a frustrating response, and one that usually calls to mind, “How am I supposed to get experience if I’m not even given the chance?”

SAE gives you a chance to gain the experience you need.

While your college courses will give you the foundation, you need to build on your education and develop the skills and knowledge base that employers want — all of which can be accomplished through your SAE student membership.
