Index

absolute distance measurement (ADM), 317 accumulative conveyor, 264, 264f
additive manufacturing (AM) technology, 78–80, 79f, 80f
ADM. See absolute distance measurement (ADM)
AGVs. See automatic guided vehicles (AGVs)
American National Standards Institute standards (ANSI), 169
American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME), 297 annual worth (AW), 111, 111f articulated robots, 221 assembly fixtures, 287
assembly lines
configuration, 143–145, 143f, 144f, 154–155, 154f, 155f dimension, 159–161, 160f, 161f, 161f assembly plant selection, 123–126, 124f, 125f assembly-to-order (ATO), 76 assembly workstations, 157–159, 158f, 159f, 169f. See also workstation ATO. See assembly-to-order (ATO) avtomated storage, 130
automatic backup, 188
automatic guided vehicles (AGVs), 254 automatic operations vs. manual operations, 231–232 automation
composition of, 209–210, 209f, 210f industrial computer, 210f ladder logic diagrams, 212–215, 212f–215f network, 211–212, 211f, 212f
sensors
applications, 218–220, 219f, 220f
contact and noncontact sensors, 216–217, 217f, 218f vehicle assembly, 207–209, 208f Automotive Industry Action Group (AIAG), 169 auxiliary locators, 301
bake-hardenable (BH), 26
barcodes, 260, 260f
bathtub reliability curves, 85–86, 86f battery electric vehicles (BEVs), 17, 18f benefit–cost (B/C) ratio, 114–115
Bernoulli process, 106
BEVs. See battery electric vehicles (BEVs) bills of process, 58
BIW architectures, 21–23, 22f, 22f, 23f body assembly operations, 314f body framing flexibility, 294–296, 295f, 296f body-in-white (BIW), 12, 18
body-on-frame, 19–20, 20f
break-even point (BEP), 113 BS outer subassembly, 172–173, 173f process for, 176f
workstation assignments, 175f
buffer planning
attributes, 249, 249f
considerations on size, 249–250
costs and flexibility, 250–251, 251f
design analysis, 252–253, 253f, 253f
function, 254
production rates and, 251–252
build-in quality assurance. See quality assurance business-value-added or auxiliary activities, 65

C-Flex, 292
CAE. See computer-aided engineering (CAE) cage-free robots, 230
carbon fiber-reinforced plastics (CFRPs), 30 carbon–manganese (CMn), 26 Cartesian industrial robots, 221, 221f
cash flow diagram, 111, 111f, 112
CDA. See cost duration analysis (CDA) CFRPs. See carbon fiber-reinforced plastics (CFRPs) challenges and advance, automotive manufacturing additive manufacturing (AM) technology, 78–80, 79f, 80f system intelligence, 76–77 virtual development, 77–78
clamping, 308–309, 308f
CMMs. See coordinate measurement machines (CMMs)
CNC machining, 79
code 39, 260
collaborative robots, 230 computer-aided engineering (CAE), 5 computer method for sequencing operations for assembly lines (COMSOAL), 187–188 computerized process development, 170 concurrent engineering (CE), 56–57, 57f, 58f principles, 46
contact and noncontact sensors, 216–217, 217f, 218f
contact symbology, 212
ControlNet network, 211
conventional and new steels, 26–28, 27f conveyance systems
characteristics, 266–267, 266f, 267f, 268f conveyors in general assembly, 271–272, 272f
monorail systems, 268, 269f
power and free systems, 269–270, 270f, 271f
conveyors in general assembly, 271–272, 272f
coordinate measurement machines (CMMs), 273–275 Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standards, 32 cost considerations, quality assurance inline inspection cost analysis, 281f
inline measurement arrangements, 280f
quality costs concept, 279–280, 279f
cost duration analysis (CDA), 74, 75f CPM. See critical path method (CPM) Crawford model, 233
critical path method (CPM), 72–73, 73f cycle time (CT) calculation, 102–103, 102f
measurement, 101–102
and throughput, 103–104 cylindrical industrial robots, 221, 221f Dallery–David–Xie algorithms, 95
datum simulators, 297 degrees of freedoms (DOFs), 223 delivery routes planning, 256
design for manufacturing (DFM), 148
DFM–LBW process, 61–62, 62f
DFM–RSW process, 60–61, 60f, 61f principle, 58–60, 59f
design system flow, 139–143, 139f–142f development procedure approaches for design for manufacturing (DFM), 58–62
lean manufacturing, 62–66
systems engineering in development, 53–57, 58f economic analysis of
benefit–cost (B/C) ratio, 114–115
cash flow diagram, 111, 111f, 112
engineering economics, 109
payback analysis, 113–114, 113f, 114f PW and AW calculation, 111, 111f
rate of return (ROR) analysis, 115–117, 115f, 116f, 117f salvage values (SVs) of the systems, 111
time value, 110
vehicle body shop, 108, 109f hierarchical modeling application, 138–139, 138f DeviceNet network, 211
DFM. See design for manufacturing (DFM)
dimensional accuracy certification
laser trackers, 316, 316f, 317f
purpose, 315–316
requirements and procedure, 317–318, 318f
sphere-mounted retroreflector (SMR), 317
test flow, 316f
dimensional precision, 314–315 diode laser, 217
distance measuring interferometry (DMI), 317 DOFs. See degrees of freedoms (DOFs) drill panel, 323
economic quality, 279
electrified conveyors, 268, 269f electrified monorail conveyor systems, 268 EMP. See error and mistake proofing (EMP) end effector, 88
end-of-arm tooling (EOAT), 134 end of life vehicle (ELV), 38 engineering change management impacts on manufacturing, 9–10, 9f, 9f10f, 11f process, 7–8, 7f, 8f
engineering economics, 109
enterprise resource planning (ERP), 14 ergo assist, 241
ergonomic engineering
design and improvements, 240–242, 241f, 242f human body dimensions for, 237f posture requirements, 238f preferred working areas, 239 repetitive operations, 239, 240f requirements, 237–240, 238f ERP. See enterprise resource planning (ERP) error and mistake proofing (EMP), 189–191, 226 EtherNet/IP, 211
facilities functionality, 262, 263f
failure mode and effects analysis (FMEA)
applications, 195
concept, 193
contents and format, 194f
machinery FMEA (M-FMEA)
characteristics, 200–201, 201f severity rating of, 202, 202f
P-FMEA development
detection rating in, 198f
FMEA-driven process changes, 199–200
occurrence rating in, 197f
process assessment, 196–198
process review, 196
reaction based on RPN, 198–199
severity rating in, 197f
procedure, 193–195
process flow, 194f
failure modes, 193
FD conveyor, 270, 271f
FEA. See finite element analysis (FEA) finite element analysis (FEA), 303 first time capability (FTC), 104–105 first time yield (FTY), 104 5-DOF robots, 223
fixed-pitch conveyor, 264 fixture dimension certification, 314, 315f fixture dimensional assurance dimensional accuracy certification
laser trackers, 316, 316f, 317f
purpose, 315–316
requirements and procedure, 317–318, 318f
sphere-mounted retroreflector (SMR), 317
fixture dimensional assurance (Cont.)
  test flow, 316f

functional repeatability certification
  alternative repeatability test, 323–324, 324f
  measurement points selection, 320–321, 320f, 321f
  passing criteria of, 321–322, 322f, 323f
  requirements, 318–319, 319f, 320f

principle and procedure, 314–315, 315f

fixture functional design components and units
    holding clamps, 308–309, 308f
    locating pins and blocks, 307
    pin clamps, 309, 309f
  configurations
    fixture pallet, 312–313, 312f
    robotic end-of-arm tooling, 310–311, 311f
    tooling integration, 313–314, 313f, 314f workstation fixtures, setups, 309–310, 310f
  fixture pallet, 312–313, 312f

fixture repeatability (FR) study, 315, 319f certification, 319
  data trend in, 322f
  measurement
    points, 320, 320f
    targets, 321, 321f
  flat-top conveyor, 271–272, 272f flat-top systems, 271

flexibility, 251
  body framing flexibility, 294–296, 295f, 296f
  servo-driven tooling units, 292–294, 293f, 294f flexible body line, 52

FMEA. See failure mode and effects analysis (FMEA)

Focus B-pillar, 25

Ford Production System (FPS), 51
  friction drive (FD), 270 friction stir welding (FSW), 35 FSW. See friction stir welding (FSW)
  FTC. See first time capability (FTC) FTY. See first time yield (FTY)

functional repeatability certification
  alternative repeatability test, 323–324, 324f
  measurement points selection, 320–321, 320f, 321f
  passing criteria of, 321–322, 322f, 323f
  requirements, 318–319, 319f, 320f

future worth (FW) method, 110

gage fixtures, 318, 318f

Gantt chart, 72, 72f

GD&T for automotive assembly
  characteristics, 297–298
  vehicle, 297
  vehicle dimensional coordinates, 296, 296f

general assembly, system flow, 149, 150f glass-fiber-filled plastics, 30 global body shop, 51
  golden zone, 239
  greenhouse gas (GHG) effect, 37
  gripper, 311
  gross JPH, 107–108, 108f

HEVs. See hybrid electric vehicles (HEVs) hierarchical modeling application assembly lines configuration, 143–145, 143f, 144f

  design system flow, 139–143, 139f–142f development procedure, 138–139, 138f product assembly architecture, 136–138, 137f

hybrid electric vehicles (HEVs)
  system development
    general assembly, system flow, 149, 150f
    product and process, modular design, 148–149, 148f, 149f
    product design and assembly process alternatives, 145–147, 145f–147f

high strength low alloy (HSLA), 26
  holding clamps, 308–309, 308f
  hot backup, 188
  human–machine interface (HMI), 207 hybrid electric vehicles (HEVs), 17, 18f hybrid line reliability, 93–94, 94–95, 94f Hyundai Production System (HPS), 51, 64
I-beam conveyor, 268
IDEF. See integrated definition (IDEF) inbound delivery routes, 255f inbound logistics
automatic guided vehicles (AGVs), 254
facilities functionality, 262, 263f
incoming materials and parts, delivery
alternative, 256–257, 257f
frequency, 255–256
functions, 255, 255f
part and WIP tracking
barcodes, 260, 260f
RFID, 260–261, 261f
WIP tracking, 261–262
part moves in assembly lines, 254, 254f
shipping racks and transportation
part shipping racks, 257–258, 258f
rack transportation, 258–259, 259f
incoming materials and parts, delivery
alternative, 256–257, 257f
frequency, 255–256
functions, 255, 255f
incremental cash flow, 116 Industry 4.0, 77, 208
infant mortality, 86
inline inspection, 274, 275t cost analysis, 281t
inline measurement arrangements, 280f
integrated definition (IDEF), 48–49, 49f International Organization for Standardization (ISO) standards, 169 interstitial-free (IF), 26
isoropic (IS), 26
Jidoka, 62–63
jig pallet unit, 312
jobs per hour (JPH), 103
laser
sensors, 217
trackers, 316, 316f, 317f laser beam welding (LBW), 35 launch cost, 50–51
launch ramp-up curve, 50
LBW. See laser beam welding (LBW)
LCA. See lifecycle analysis or assessment (LCA)
lead-through programming, 221–222
lean manufacturing, 62–66
learning curve, 232–234, 233f
learning rate (LR), 233
lifecycle analysis or assessment (LCA), 11–13, 13f, 37, 38f
new manufacturing systems, 112 lifecycle cost analysis, 12 line reliability, analysis, 90–95, 90f–92f, 92t, 94f
linear and parallelogram mechanisms, fixture unit, 294f
locating pins and blocks, 307
logistics planning, 255
M-FMEA. See machinery FMEA
(M-FMEA)
machinery FMEA (M-FMEA)
characteristics, 200–201, 201t severity rating of, 202, 202t Made in China 2025, 208 magnesium (Mg), automotive
applications, 29–30
main conveyance systems, requirements, 129–130
manpower utilization, efficiency, 180–184, 181f, 182t, 183f, 184f manual backup, 188–189
manual operations
characteristics
automatic operations vs., 231–232
learning curve, 232–234, 233f ergonomic considerations, 237–242 worker safety assurance, 234–236, 235f, 236t
manufacturing development
functional view, 47–49, 48f, 49f system development flow, 45–47, 46f, 47f verification and launch, 49–51, 50f
flexibility
assembly system flexibility, 98–100, 98f, 99f, 99t
manufac\textsc{t}uring (\textit{Cont.})

benefits, 96
capacity utilization, 96, 96\(f\)
challenges to, 97–98, 97\(f\), 97\(t\) definition, 95–96
design for, 100, 100\(f\)
market fluctuation and, 95

assembly plant selection, 123–126, 124\(f\), 125\(t\)
main conveyance systems, requirements, 129–130
plant site selection, 126–127 requirements, 127–129, 127\(t\)–129\(t\)

MARR. \textit{See} minimum attractive ROR (MARR) material logistics and manufacturing flexibility, 98

capacity utilization, 96, 96\(f\)
materials for vehicle body

conventional and new steels, 26–28, 27\(f\)
information, 26\(t\)
non-ferrous metals, 28–30, 28\(t\), 29\(t\)
nonmetallic materials, 30–31

selection, considerations in cost factor, 33–34, 33\(f\), 33\(t\) environmental concerns, 37–39, 38\(f\) factors, 31\(t\)

lightweight demand, 32–33, 32\(f\), 33\(t\) for manufacturing, 34–36, 35\(t\), 36\(t\), 37\(f\)

mean time to failure (MTTF), 87–88, 87\(f\) mean time to repair (MTTR), 87–88, 87\(f\)

Medium Frequency Direct Current (MFDC), 106
Mercedes-Benz Production System (MPS), 51
Mercedes S-Class, 29

MFDC. \textit{See} Medium Frequency Direct Current (MFDC)
mild (conventional) steels, 26 minimum attractive ROR (MARR), 115–116

monorail systems, 268, 269\(f\)
Monte Carlo simulation, 171

multipurpose vehicles, 17

net JPH, 107–108, 108\(t\) Nissan Integrated Manufacturing System, 99
non-ferrous metals, 28–30, 28\(t\), 29\(t\)
nonmetallic materials, 30–31

normalized yield (NY), 106
North American Automotive Metric Standards (NAAMS), 289–290

OEE. \textit{See} overall equipment effectiveness (OEE)

OEMs. \textit{See} original equipment manufacturers (OEMs)

operation balance

computer method for sequencing operations for assembly lines (COMSOAL), 187–188

concept of, 184–185, 185\(f\)

improvement, 185

line, 185\(f\)

planning operational tasks, 186

simple assembly line balancing problem (SALBP), 187, 187\(t\) weld assignment and balance, 186\(f\) welding operations, 186

operation time study, 176–180, 177\(f\)–179\(f\)

operator workstations, sequences, 236\(f\)

original equipment manufacturers (OEMs), 10

overall equipment effectiveness (OEE), 88

pallet conveyor, 263

systems, 312

pallet transfer system, 312–313

parallel lines, 156–157, 156\(f\), 157\(f\)

reliability, 92–93, 92\(t\)

part and WIP transfer in assembly operations

barcodes, 260, 260\(f\)

large conveyance systems characteristics, 266–267, 266\(f\), 267\(t\), 268\(f\)

conveyors in general assembly, 271–272, 272\(f\)

monorail systems, 268, 269\(f\)
power and free systems, 269–270, 270f, 271f
part delivery conveyors, 263–264, 263f, 264f RFID, 260–261, 261f
robotic material handling, 264–266, 265f WIP tracking, 261–262
part delivery conveyors, 263–264, 263f, 264f
part locating principles
3-2-1 locating principle, 298
2-1 and 3-2-1 configurations, 298–300, 299f, 300f
part moves in assembly lines, 254, 254f
part pallet indexing conveyor, 263f
part shipping racks, 257–258, 258f participatory ergonomics, 241 passenger vehicles architectures body architectures, 18–23, 18f, 23f cars category, 16f
classification, 16–17
components, 17, 18f
Euro NCAP segments, 17f sheet metal parts, 23–25, 24f, 25f, 25t
payback analysis, 113–114, 113f, 114f
payload capacity, 223
PDM. See product data management (PDM)
P&F conveyor, 269, 270f photoelectric sensors, 217
pin clamps, 309, 309f
plant site selection, 126–127
platform strategy, 51
PLCs. See programmable logic controller (PLC) PLM. See product life cycle management (PLM)
power and free systems, 269–270, 270f, 271f
precision fixture, 134
precision workstation, 177 preferred work zones, 239 present worth (PW), 111, 111f principal locating point (PLP) scheme, 288, 292
GD&T for automotive assembly
characteristics, 297–298
vehicle, 297
vehicle dimensional coordinates, 296, 296f
locating compliant parts N-2-1 locating principle, 300–304, 301f–304f variables, 304–306, 305f, 306f
part locating principles
3-2-1 locating principle, 298
2-1 and 3-2-1 configurations, 298–300, 299f, 300f
process
documents, 167
flexibility, 191–193, 191f, 192f sheets, 167, 168f, 168f task assignments, 174–176, 175f, 176f timing, 178
process engineering, vehicle assembly, 165f planning
outcomes, 167, 168f
standardization, 169–170, 169f
tasks and inputs of, 166–167, 167f
virtual process development, 170–172, 171f
vehicle manufacturing processes, 166f
Process Field Net, 211
process-FMEA (P-FMEA)
detection rating in, 198f
FMEA-driven process changes, 199–200
occurrence rating in, 197f
process assessment, 196–198
process review, 196
reaction based on RPN, 198–199
severity rating in, 197f
process-oriented layout, 152
process planning operation balance, 184–188, 185f, 186f, 187f
outcomes, 167, 168f
process flexibility, 191–193, 191f, 192f process robustness, 188–191, 189f, 190f process planning (Cont.)
standardization, 169–170, 169f
tasks and inputs of, 166–167, 167f
virtual process development, 170–172, 171f
process robustness, 105–106 concept of, 188–189
error and mistake proofing, 189–191, 190f improvements of, 189f
product and process, modular design, 148–149, 148f, 149f
product assembly architecture, 136–138, 137f product data management (PDM), 10 product design and assembly process alternatives, 145–147, 145f–147f product engineering and development development, 2, 2f management, 4–6, 4f, 5f manufacturing systems and processes, 3 tasks in, 3f
product life cycle management (PLM), 10, 13 implementation benefits, 16f principle and applications, 13–15 system integration of, 15f for vehicle development, 14f product oriented layout, 150 product quality, 104–106, 104f, 105f product–process hierarchy tree, 139–143, 139f–142f PROFINET, 211–212
programmable logic controller (PLC), 210 functions, 167
project management for development, 66–76 execution
  cost and timing, 74–76, 75f progress monitoring and adjustment, 73–74 goals and life, 66–68, 66f, 67f, 67f influencing factors in selection, 69–70, 70f
planning
critical path method (CPM), 72–73, 73f
Gantt chart, 72, 72f
team, 68–69, 68f, 69f
timing, 71, 71f
pull-off/reinsertion access, 278, 278f
quality assurance cost considerations in inline inspection cost analysis, 281f
  inline measurement arrangements, 280f
  quality costs concept, 279–280, 279f
  planning, 273–275, 273f, 274f, 275f
  pull-off/reinsertion access, 278, 278f
  rework loops in assembly systems, 275–276, 275f–277f
quality costs concept, 279–280, 279f
rack transportation, 258–259, 259f
rate of return (ROR) analysis, 115–117, 115f, 116f, 117f rear structure (RS), 148 reconfigurable modular system, 304 requirements, manufacturing system, 127–129, 127f–129f resin-transfer molding, 31 resistance spot welding (RSW), 35 responsible, accountable, consult, and inform (RACI) matrix, 69, 69f respot workstation, 89, 89f, 174 retooling, 50, 285. See also tooling development
retrieval system, 130
rework loops in assembly systems, 275–276, 275f–277f RFID, 260–261, 261f
robot density, 208
robot programming, 167
robotic applications
  advance—collaborative robots, 229–231, 229f industrial robots
  accuracy, 224
  characteristics, 222–224, 222f–224f types, 220–222, 221f, 221t working envelopes, 224, 224f safety considerations for, 228–229 in vehicle assembly, 224–227, 225t, 226f–227f
robotic end-of-arm tooling, 310–311, 311f
robotic EOAT end effector, 311, 311f robotic material handling (MH) between lines, 265f
part transfer between workstations, 265f Robot R1 picking, 266
robot-to-robot hand-off operations, 265 unloading and loading operations, 264 RSW. See resistance spot welding (RSW) safety function, 134–135
salvage values (SVs) of the systems, 111
self-piercing riveting (SPR), 21
sensors
applications, 218–220, 219f, 220f
contact and noncontact sensors, 216–217, 217f, 218f serial line reliability, 91–92, 92f
servo-driven tooling units, 292–294, 293f, 294f servomotor-driven fixture unit, 293f sheet metal parts
body sides, parts and configurations of, 23, 24f
characteristics, 23
design and manufacturing, 24 dimensional quality, 25
Focus B-pillar, 25
stamped parts and subassemblies, requirements on, 25f tailor-rolled blanks, 25, 25f
tailor-welded blanks, 24, 25f sheet molded compound (SMC), 31
shipping racks and transportation
part shipping racks, 257–258, 258f
rack transportation, 258–259, 259f
shunting effect, 60
simple assembly line balancing problem (SALBP), 187, 187f skillets, 271
slack, 73
smart factory, 77
SMC. See sheet molded compound (SMC) soft tooling, 322
spaceframe body, 21, 21f
special tooling
cost consideration, 291–292, 291f
process, 287–289, 288f, 289f
standardization, 289, 290f
sphere-mounted retroreflector (SMR), 317
SPR. See self-piercing riveting (SPR) standardization, process planning, 169–170, 169f standardized fixture item, 290, 290f stationary fixture, 309 system buffering buffer effect analysis, 248f
buffer planning
attributes, 249, 249f
considerations on size, 249–250
costs and flexibility, 250–251, 251f
design analysis, 252–253, 253f, 253f
function, 254
production rates and, 251–252 influences, 247–248, 247f, 248f in manufacturing systems, 245–246, 246f system design, vehicle assembly systems assembly lines, characteristics.
See workstation
manufacturing system
assembly plant selection, 123–126, 124f, 125f
main conveyance systems, requirements, 129–130
plant site selection, 126–127
requirements, 127–129, 127f–129f
system development
general assembly, system flow, 149, 150f
procedure
manufacturing development, 45–51 standardization, 51–53, 52f–53f
product and process, modular design, 148–149, 148f, 149f
system development (Cont.)
product design and assembly process alternatives, 145–147, 145f–147f system layouts, vehicle assembly systems
assembly lines
configurations, 154–155, 154f, 155f dimension, 159–161, 160f, 161f, 161t assembly workstations, 157–159, 158f, 159f body frame and paint operation, 151f computer simulation, development, 151 items of, 152f
parallel lines, 156–157, 156f, 157f passage car body shop, 152, 153f
process-oriented layout, 152
professional teams, 154
two-color base coats, process flow, 152, 153f system reliability
fundamentals, 85–88, 86f line reliability, analysis, 90–95, 90f–92f, 92f, 94f workstation reliability, analysis, 88–90, 89f, 90f system throughput
gross JPH and net JPH, 107–108, 108f measurements, 106, 106f production yield (RTY), 106–107, 107f systems engineering (SE) in development concurrent engineering (CE), 56–57, 57f, 58f phases, 53–55, 54f, 55f
V-shape approach, 55–56, 55f, 56f
tailor-rolled blanks, 25, 25f
tailor-welded blanks, 24, 25f
thermoplastics, 30
thermosets, 30
3-2-1 locating principle, 298
3-D printing, 79–80, 79f, 80f
time value, 110
of money, 109
tooling development
flexibility
body framing flexibility, 294–296, 295f, 296f
servo-driven tooling units, 292–294, 293f, 294f
functionality
characteristics, 286–287
vs. facility, 285, 286f
special tooling
cost consideration, 291–292, 291f
process, 287–289, 288f, 289f
standardization, 289, 290f
tooling integration, 313–314, 313f, 314f
Toyota Production System (TPS), 51, 63 traditional dedicated manufacturing, 95
2-1 and 3-2-1 configurations, 298–300, 299f, 300f
UHSSs. See ultrahigh strength steels (UHSSs) ultrahigh strength steels (UHSSs), 26–28, 36
unibody architecture, 18, 19f unintended acceleration, 64 unreliability, 87
V-shape approach, 55–56, 55f, 56f
vehicle assembly automation, 207–209, 208f vehicle assembly workstations. See workstation vehicle body framing scenarios, 295, 295f
vehicle body shop, 108, 109f
vehicle development management engineering change management, 6–10, 7f–9f, 9t, 11f lifecycle analysis, 11–13, 13f PLM principle and applications, 13–15, 14f–16f product engineering and development, 2–6, 4f–6f programs classification, 1–2
vehicle dimensional coordinates, 296, 296f
vehicle manufacturing processes, 166f vehicle subassemblies, fixture with, 310f vehicles body architectures BIW architectures, 21–23, 22f, 22t, 23f
body-on-frame, 19–20, 20f
self-piercing riveting (SPR), 21
spaceframe body, 21, 21f
unibody architecture, 18, 19f
verification sensors, 264
VFF. See Virtual Factory Framework (VFF)
Virtual Factory Framework (VFF), 78
Virtual Paint Shop, 171
virtual process development, 170–172, 171f, 172f WBS. See work breakdown structure (WBS) Weibull distribution, 86 welding workstations, 144
WIP tracking, 261–262
witness hole, 323
work breakdown structure (WBS), 68, 68f worker safety assurance, 234–236, 235f, 236f workstation
characteristics, 130, 130f composition of, 134–136, 134f fixtures, setups, 309–310, 310f manual installation, 133, 133f nonprecision assembly operations, 132, 133f operations types, 131, 131f precision assembly operations, 131–132, 133f process planning of manpower utilization, efficiency, 180–184, 181f, 182f, 183f, 184f
operation time study, 176–180, 177f–179f process task assignments, 174–176, 175f, 176f reliability, analysis, 88–90, 89f, 90f robot spray cells, 133 supportive operations, 133–134 tooling component integration, 313f vehicle assembly, components, 135, 135f vehicle mass production, operation automation in, 132, 132f XXX production systems, 51