The page appears to be a list of committees and task forces associated with various aspects of the automotive and transportation industry, likely from the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE). The text is too dense and extensive to transcribe accurately in a natural text format, capturing all the details, names, and affiliations. The list includes committees and task forces related to construction, agricultural, and related aspects, along with specific technical areas like standards, safety, and performance. The layout indicates a structured presentation of these groups, possibly for an annual report, newsletter, or directory section of SAE's website or publication.
